Modern Oceana High School in Pacifica Ready to Open

"Dream School" Is Now Ready

Another "dream-come true" for Mario Ciampi, well known, if controversial, architect, will emerge September 4 as 700 students, freshmen through juniors, will be greeted as they begin classes at the new Oceana High School in Pacifica.

Built by the Dickman Construction Company, Oceana sits in three layers facing the Pacific ocean on the hills above the Coast Highway in Sharp Park.

The school, which cost approximately $2,600,000, occupies about 50 acres of ground on what once was the water supply for the Sharp Park area. The wells, now dry, have been filled and are located under the tennis courts and near the gymnasium.

The school now has a capacity for 1,000 pupils. Plans for a second addition are being made, and a third addition in the future would bring the student capacity to 2,000.

The library, with its large tinted glass windows, occupies the central portion of the building. On either side are modern classrooms painted in soft pastel colors, each with a peephole window looking out on the Pacific.

In the leeward side of the building, a semi-enclosed hall gives access to all the classrooms, workshops and science rooms. Student lockers are painted in garish shades of red, green, blue and orange.

The effect of bright colors is carried throughout the school in such a way that after the initial shock is over, the colors mellow.

Four flights of stairs, which are lighted from underneath, bring the students to the second level.

The third and lowest level consists of the football field, baseball diamonds, basketball courts and seven tennis courts.

15,600 Return To School In Daly City On Sept. 11

Back to school!

This will be the big event on September 11 for some 15,647 students in the Jefferson High School and Elementary School districts as they sharpen pencils and go back to the old classroom grind.

Elementary school attendance is expected to begin at somewhere around 9,300 students and hit the projected figure of 9,572 by mid-year. Last year the elementary school district enrolled 9,050 children.

New classes added to the elementary district this year include six rooms at Colma Upper school, multi-use, shower and locker rooms — to be ready for occupany by mid-year.

All-Time High

The high school district enrollment will jump from last year's total of 4,300 to an all-time high of 5,075.

Total district high school enrollments rise about 500 per year, according to business manager Fred Goodell, necessitating the creation of a new high school every few years.

Jefferson Union High School's expected enrollment for fall is 1,575, Westmoor 1,800, Oceana 700, Terra Nova 1,000.

No Football Field

The new Oceana school will serve the area of Pacific Manor, Sharp Park, Pacific Heights, Westview and Fairway Park.

Due to Labor Strike

Jefferson High School, due to labor strikes, will be operating under some difficulty because of an unfinished football field.

All high school football games will have to be played away from home, Goodell said. Another inconvenience caused by a contractors' strike is the unfinished shop.

The Jefferson gymnasium work, however, is finished, and the gymnasium will be ready for use after being vacant for an entire school year due to shower and locker room construction in the gym basement.

WOMAN OF THE YEAR—Mrs. Laila Porterfield Gasho, 73 Fairway drive, Daly City, has been elected "Woman of the Year" by the San Francisco chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

Thar She Blows!

Workmen accidently sheared off a water main on Frankfort street Tuesday morning, sending a geyser of water four stories into the air.

Mrs. Patti Stolz, 16 Frankfort, said the men broke the main with a caterpillar tractor. She called the Daly City fire department.

Although local residents lost quite a bit of water pressure, they admired the sight. "It's just gorgeous," she said. "Too bad the sun isn't shining." .....

Tradition Lives On At City's New Lowell H.S.

A raw, unlived-in collection of sleeky modern buildings situated on the shore of Lake Merced will be that of the "new" Lowell High School for 2,400 young San Franciscans on back-to-school day, September 5.

The new campus is Lowell's fourth. The school started 106 years ago as Boys High School on Sutter street, between Gough and Octavia. In 1870, it moved to Sacramento street, and then, in 1912, to Hayes, where its name was changed to Lowell and it became a co-educational institution.

Historically, it is considered to be the first high school established west of the Mississippi River.

Lowell has turned out a host of scholars.

Two of the United States' Nobel prize winners are Lowell graduates — physicist Albert Michelson (class of 1868), America's first winner; and physiologist Joseph Erlanger (class of 1890), who earned the award in 1944.

Other graduates who won fame and honor in other fields

LAMP OF LEARNING—When the "new" Lowell High School opens this September 5 on the shore of Lake Merced, it will have a new school seal, designed and made by school ceramic and industrial art instructor Tryon Nichols, 66 Lake Meadow drive, Daly City. Nichols, who made each of the 7,000 ceramic pieces and gold lettering, studied Bysantine mosaics in Europe and at the University of California. The school seal will be located at the entrance of the school.

Westlake Residents Protest Apartment

A strong and vocal group of Westlake residents continued their opposition Monday night at the Daly City city council meeting against plans by Henry Doelger Builder, Inc., to build an apartment on Fairlawn Court.

Doelger Corp. has requested property south and west of the Westlake Library and between Southgate avenue and Fairlawn Court be rezoned from single family residential, commercial and unclassified to multiple residential.

The first reading of an ordinance to rezone the property was introduced. Councilmen will vote on the matter on August 27.

E. D. Reynolds told the council at the time he bought his property at 54 Maddox drive, he bought it in good faith that it was to be zoned for single family residential.

Mr. O. Tice, Fairlawn Court resident, said property values would drop $2,000 in the area if the rezoning is granted.

John J. Flynn, 298 Southgate, said he was worried about what he called a lack of planning for the area, inasmuch as an apartment building is planned in a single family neighborhood.

"Am I going to wake up some morning and find Macy's in my back yard?" he asked.

Bid Approved

The city council approved a bid of $237,298 from Bagato Paving Company for the 90th street assessment district.

Some 88 lots, mostly in Daly City, have been assessed as part of a city-county agreement to improve the area between 88th street and 91st street with sidewalks, storm drains, sewers and

Segregation Suit Follows Lowell Move

When Lowell High School makes its big move out to the shores of Lake Merced this fall, it leaves behind the beginning of a whale of a controversy involving school segregation.

Lawyers hope to take the issue to the United States supreme court.

Central Junior High School, now being created, will be housed in the old Lowell High School building at Hayes and Masonic streets.

Parents object that the district with a predominantly Negro student populaiton in the Haight-Ashbury and Grattan Elementary School district area will house mostly Negroes this fall, thus creating a segregated school.

Harold Spear, school superintendent, has said he does not plan to change the student population before school opens on September 5.

Top legal minds of several human relations and civic rights organizations are planning to file an injunction to keep Central Junion High School closed rather than see the newly-created school open with a student population made up mostly of Negroes.

If the highest court in the land rules in their favor — that schools segregated because of neighborhood residential pat-

Library Friends Spice DC Intellectual Life

By JACK WOOD

A group in pursuit of culture and doing a good job of it is the Daly City Friends of the Library.

Their meetings, which begin in the fall at the Westlake Library, have included book reviews by famous authors, college professors and other distinguished visitors, whose views have helped spice the intellectual life of the community. Co-sponsor is the YWCA.

Book reviews range from "very good" to "excellent."

According to city librarian Samuel Chandler, the guests invited for the "Friends" book reviews "are people who know things and people who work with ideas and books."

Chandler opened the first of the series of book reviews last year with a talk on "Moods" in literature.

Other guests during the past seasons have included the following:

Mark Harris, author of many best-selling novels.

Marian Trahan, Oakland library children's librarian.

Richard Dillon, writer and librarian at the Sutro Library, "one of California's up and coming literary men."

Pauline Coleman, San Mateo librarian and who has also published several important children's books.

William Webster, Hayward librarian, recently returned from the Far East with views

S. S. F. Tax Rate Remains The Same

The South San Francisco council officially set a repeat $1.14 city tax rate when it adopted its record $2.3 million budget last week.

Included in the budget is a five precent across-the-board salary increase for municipal employees. They also approved a hazardous service benefit for police and firemen in case of death while on duty.

Sewer rental charges will remain the same at $9 per home.

School Completion To Be "Nip And Tuck" Says Architect

A huge reshuffling of classes will take place this September at Westmoor High School in Daly City if a strike of local carpenters is called, high school district officials said yesterday.

The impending carpenter-contractor strike, which appeared imminent because of disagreement on wages for a new contract, will make the completion of five science labs, eight classrooms, two shops and a mechanical drawing room a "nip and tuck" battle, according to Paul Reiter, architect.

Reiter said the additions are about 95 per cent complete. Cabinet work and hanging of doors remain to be completed.

Jefferson Union High School District business administrator Fred Goodell said that classes are scheduled for the new additions, but that an alternate schedule has been drawn up by Westmoor principal Glenn South in case the additions are not completed.

"It will be a serious blow to the school if the classrooms are not completed," Reiter said.

Reiter said that carpenters need at least a week and perhaps two weeks to finish the job.

"If we can hold off two weeks, I hope we can be finished," he said.

White Street Talks Slated

The county has begun to move on the controversial White street extension problem in Westmoor and Westlake.

An engineering study has been completed by county engineers, giving four possible plans for extending the street between Broadmoor and the Broadmoor and Westlake.

Officials of the county and of Daly City favor putting the street through. The project has been opposed, however, by school authorities because the route would pass between two elementary schools — Garden Village and Benjamin Franklin.

Broadmoor residents have also opposed in the past, but have no wasked the board to connow asked the board to controversy.

A. B. Blakeley, deputy county engineer, said maps of proposed plans would be sent to the elementary school district and after that a meeting would be held with county engineers and district officials to discuss the plans.

The school district recently filed a condemnation suit against the county-owned strip that runs between the two schools, urgeing that action be taken as soon as possible.

Death From Drug Overdose

Mrs. Suzanne Como, 58, of 245 Palisades drive, Daly City, was listed as a possible suicide Monday from a fatal drug overdose by Daly City police. Officers were called to the home at about 8 a.m. by her husband, John H. Como, who is employed as a field representative for the Veterans Administration.

The woman was pronounced dead by her private physician, Dr. William Trezise, 48 Park Plaza. Officers James Doran and G. D. Gehringer investigated.

The county coroner's office Monday was investigating the cause of death.

DC Auto Crash

A falling sun visor, which blocked a driver's vision, was blamed for an accident last Monday night in Daly City.

Andrew Ah Po, 30 Paul street, Daly City, suffered numerous facial cuts and bruises when the visor fell and his auto struck two parked cars on Bismark street.

Po was treated by his own physician. Officers issued no citations.

1000 REGISTER FOR ELECTION

More than 1,000 new voters registered for the November election during the past two weeks at Daly City markets.

It is estimated that several thousand additional people are yet to be registered or re-registered if they are to be eligible to vote November 6.

For the convenience of those wishing to register, September 13 is the closing date. Registration booths have been set up in the following Daly City food markets:

Westlake Food Center, 85 Westlake court; Skyline Plaza Market, 250 Skyline Plaza; Safeway Store, 92 St. Francis boulevard, and the two Mayfair markets at 2350 Junipero Serra boulevard and 6967 Mission street.

Check the signs posted in each market, giving the hours registrars will be on duty.

Dangerous Pills Taken From Home In Burglary

A vial of dangerous pills was reported missing in a Daly City burglary last Friday. The pills, if taken in large dosage, could result in internal hemorrhaging and possible death.

Also taken in the burglary of the home of Robert Grant, 269 Peoria street, were a transistor radio, a hunting knife, several books of trading stamps and a small amount of cash.

Officers reported that the intruder, or intruders, entered through an unlocked door between 9 and 9:30 a.m. The loss was estimated at $84.

South SF Youths Get Spinal Examinations

If you slouch in the couch, you won't be able to keep your spine in line. The man who speaks with that beat is Dr. Anthony F. Lally of the Peninsula Chiropractic Center in South San Francisco. He said that poor sitting and standing habits make most of the nation's youth look like human towers of Pisa.

To strengthen such distortions, he said spinal examinations will be given to students — kindergarten through high school — without charge during the week of August 27-31.

These examinations are part of a nationwide "spinal check-up" program sponsored as a public service by the Internationel Chiropractic Association.

Appointments for examination may be made by calling the Peninsula Chiropractic Center at JU 9-4985. Students under high school age must be accompanied by a parent.

Dr. Lally said two of every three youngsters examined in last year's "spinal check-up" program in the United States and Canada had defective backbones.

"These chiropractic findings were virtually identical with those of a Kansas City orthopedic surgeon who recently announced that less than 40 per cent of some 6,000 persons examined were free of spinal defects. A misaligned backbone or vertebrae can cause pressure on nerves of the spinal cord and cause a multitude of illnesses," he added.

NAME DEMO CO-CHAIRMEN

Co-chairmen of the Democratic registration drive in Daly City were announced this week by Tom Jenkins, county Democratic registration chairman.

They are Edward Solomon, 33 Southdale avenue, president of the Daly City Democratic Club, and Mrs. Margaret Becker, 257 Bellevue avenue.

They are in charge of the Democratic registration campaign in Daly City with the goal of increasing registration by 20 per cent for the November general election.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, other constitutional Democratic candidates and Peninsula Democratic candidates, Bill Keller, congress; Leo Ryan, state assembly, 27th district), and Donald Barr, 26th district, state assembly, have all declared the signup of new voters the foremost campaign job until registration closes September 13.

Late Postal Collections Are Revised

Additional installation of star decals on late evening collection boxes has been completed in the Daly City area, Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy of Daly City announced today.

These white stars on a blue field designate those boxes, on which they appear, as late evening collection boxes. These supplemental service boxes are collected after 8 p. m. Any box not so designated will be collected prior to 5 p. m. with no later collection, Murphy announced.

Non-star boxes will designate on the collection card where the nearest deposit may be made for a later collection.

Lindsay Faces Prison Or The Gas Chamber

Thomas Norman Lindsay will be brought back to court in Redwood City at 10 a. m. Thursday to face the jury that convicted him on 17 felony counts, including one that could send him to the gas chamber.

Lindsay was found guilty of kidnaping with great bodily harm, a felony covered by California's so-called "Little Lindbergh" law.

Under this law, convict-author Caryl Chessman went to death in the gas chamber at San Quentin in 1960 after 12 years on death row.

Thursday, the jury in Lindsay's trial will hear testimony on which they will base a decision to either send Lindsay to the gas chamber or to prison for life without possibility of parole.

Authorities had planned to send the convicted bank robber to Alcatraz for bank robbery.

Speeders Cited On GG Bridge

It isn't worth it to speed on the Golden Gate Bridge. A total of 1,477 arrests were made on the bridge in the first six months of this year, according to Captain T. F. Parnow, commanding officer of the San Rafael area of the California Highway Patrol.

The bridge is covered 24 hours a day by the highway patrol, law enforcement agency for the San Francisco-Marin crossing.

Most of the arrests, 1,059, occurred on the bridge structure proper, with 418 violators being cited on then three approaches — Marina, Funston and Lombard.

"More than 325 arrests were also made for non-moving violations," Parnow said, "involving registration, invalid operator's license and the like."

In addition to the arrests, Parnow noted that thousands of driver contacts were made where a verbal warning or notice of vehicle code violation was issued.

PRIZE TRIP—Walter McCloud, 94 Edgemont drive, Daly City, left, is presented by Alec Land with the tickets for a trip to Hawaii, for two, which he won last Thursday night, August 9, in a supermarket drawing at ALEC Membership Shopping Center, Colma. McCloud was in the store with his son, Mark, 2½, when a clerk in the laundry department advised him that he'd won the top prize. Other trips, to Seattle, were won by Mrs. Donald J. Campbell, 351 Seaside drive, Pacifica, and Mrs. J. H. Wilson, 2701 Belmont Canyon road, Belmont.

High Insurance Rates At New Oceana H. S.

Oceana High School, newest of the four Jefferson High School district schools, has the highest fire insurance rate and premium, Peter J. Markovich, president of the North San Mateo County Insurance Agents Association, reported to the school board.

Because of the wood frame contruction in portions of the school, Oceana carries a higher premium for its coverage.

But Principal Ernest Ribera said its spread-out construction, with more than one entrance on ground level to most classrooms, makes it about the safest.

The district's property is insured at 92 per cent of actual value on the following breakdown:

Buildings: Jefferson, $2,259,045; Westmoor, $2,685,611; Terra Nova, $1,574,593; Oceana, $1,477,284.

Contents: Jefferson, $143,250; Westmoor, $231,077; Terra Nova, $150,000; Oceana, $150,000.

The total insurance on buildings is $7,996,533; on contents, $686,697. Markovich reported outstanding legal claims against the district stand at $153,350.

D. A. Biancalana Returns From Cruise

Douglas A. Biancalans, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Biacalana of 84 Fleetwood drive, Daly City, was serving aboard the heavy cruiser USS Saint Paul when she returned to San Diego on July 26 after three and one-half years of service with the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

The ship arrived in the United States from Yokosuka, Japan, flying a homeward-bound pennant 674 feet in length. Because the Saint Paul was homeported in the Far East longer than any major combatant ship since before World War II, this pennant is one of the longest ever flown.

The pennant, which measures one foot for every man aboard who has served more than nine months outside the United States, was cut up and distributed to the crew upon arrival at San Diego.

The ship will now enter the Long Beach Naval Shipyard for an overhaul and is scheduled to return to duty as a fleet flagship next spring.

Old Newspapers Bring Back WW2 Memories

When Patrick Davenport, a close friend of Daly City police officer John Van Otten, patrol division, passed away, there was among his belongings newspapers from Sitka, Alaska, where Davenport was stationed with the Army during World War II.

Officer Van Otten recently came upon these old newspapers — the "Sitka Sentinel," located in "The Gem of the Pacific . . . on beautiful Baranof Island."

The newspapers 21 years ago in Sitka, of course, screamed with news of the World War. Nazis were reported near Leningrad and thousands of the city's civilians had volunteered for service in the Peoples Army.

"Dispatches from Moscow said that Leningrad was now 'a formidable camp'."

Another headline, dated Oct. 17, 1941, read: "Torpedo U. S. Ship . . . Six Die in Blast."

The House of Representatives that day, upon hearing of the torpedoing of the Destroyer Kearney, gave its overwhelming approval of the arming of United States merchant ships.

In the September 26 issue of the Sitka Sentinel, the headlines read "Nazis Thrown Back."

"Whole battalions of German shock troops were blown to pieces in mine-fields in a strong attack in the Crimea, advices reaching London said.

"The Russians reported the situation was well in hand after stemming two Nazi assaults."

Although the news is not especially of vintage age, it is interesting to recall those war days, which get farther and farther away each year. The newspapers, Van Otten said, will be given to one of the Daly City high schools as historical material.

By ARTEMUS BIERCE

Stanton L. Ehrlich, a Chicago divorce lawyer, addressing the American Bar Association at the convention held in San Francisco last week said: "Marriage — not divorce — is too easy under our laws, and that is why so many marriages are going on the rocks."

"We are not going to succeed in curbing the rising numbers of divorces in this nation by making divorce more difficult. Our only real success will come from making marriage more difficult, and in which there are stringent requirements for the ability to obtain marriage licenses."

We wholeheartedly concur with Mr. Ehrlich and a common-sense appraisal of the problem will testify to the logic of his speech.

The once great institution of marriage has been mis-used and often cast aside. The hold which religion once had over the sacred institution has been somewhat loosened like old demures. More and more, the various religious are either condoning divorces or just issuing slight reprimands.

The act of divorce has become a socially accepted part of our times. In some parts of society you might even say that divorce is a status symbol. The divorced person is now considered one of experience and insight which is a gross misconception.

Ehrlich criticizes the laws of having the short waiting period for marriages. In California, the waiting period is a mere 24 hours, which allows for the blood test. Ehrlich says that some people, under the influence of alcohol can even be married.

We once knew a fellow who was blasted for four days and when he came around he not only had a headache, but a bride also. Obviously it didn't cause too much hardship on either party with the exception of embarrassment when they found out that they had an incompatible relationship. Divorce, or annulment, as in the latest case, are as easy as unzipping a pair of capri pants.

In this case, the parting was for the best for both parties. You can't build a marriage on a foundation of two bottles of scotch, a new automobile and a piece of paper with an official-looking seal on it.

However, had the waiting period been longer than 24 hours, longer than four days, and maybe even as long as a week, the two people would have realized that they were not in love with each other. It would have saved money, not to mention embarrassment for both parties concerned.

The striking divorce rates prevalent, coupled with the forlorn gaze of children from a broken home, migrating from parent to parent, intensifies the shocking problem which seems to be gaining momentum as we move more and more into a purely materialistc society.

Ehrlich advocates putting a longer waiting period on the applicants, marital education at the high school level, and outlawing the impulse marriages. This would tighten up the sale of the license, which has become an all-too-easy-to-get commodity. It would also eliminate the hasty and impulsive marriages.

It wouldn't eliminate divorce altogether, but we believe it would make a helluva dent in the ascneding rate.

Maybe this is something that the state legislature should take a good gander at the next time around. Let's hope so — anything we hate to see is a fading institution, and marriage is one which is taking some hard knocks.

Did you know that Daly City had 543 felony crime reports in 1961. Of these, one was wilful homicide, 23 were robbery, 15 were assault and 265 were burglary. That is what the State Bureau of Criminal Statistics reports.

Colma was low man on the totem pole in San Mateo County with only five reports. Which proves, I guess, that the dead are safter than the living.

Daly City's director of recreation, Chuck Vincent, city engineer Bill Chapman and Lou Larcomb of the Daly City park and recreation commission took a sojourn to the Lake Tahoe area last week in hopes of obtaining a family camp site for Daly City residents.

The trio looked at a 2,000 acre site, 18 miles south of Stateline, but nixed the idea because of the terrain. More than 1,800 of the acres consisted of mountains.

The trio will make another trip in the near future to look into summer camp sites. If they are successful, we feel that there will be a lot of people taking a vacation from Daly City next summer.

Speaking of the Lake Tahoe area, Jefferson High School district superintendent Ed Morgan and his family are vacationing at Tahoe. The hard-working Morgan finally gets a breather before the 1962-63 terms opens.

His vacancy is being filled by his able assistant superintendent, Fred Goodell.

And, down in South San Francisco, Dave Vina was recently elected president of the South San Francisco Young Adults Club. The energetic young man, who holds down two jobs, immediately planned a multitude of activities for the club.

The other night, the club attended the pops concert, the first of many activities which Vina instigated. Did Vina enjoy his hard work? No. Dave was in the hospital following an attack of appendicitis.

DC Nike Crews Are Rated Tops

California National Guardsmen of the Westlake and Ft. Scott Nike Ajax missile batteries were back at their stations last week after posting near perfect scores during a week of missile firing at McGregor Range, New Mexico.

Both units were designated "outstanding batteries" for their performance, with scores better than 95 per cent out of a possible 100 per cent.

The Presidio's Ft. Scott battery, commanded by First Lt. Benjamin Briel, and the Westlake battery, commanded by First Lt. Henry W. Volken, each fired two missiles at airborne targets and scored "kills" on all four occasions.

The firings at McGregor Range are designed to periodically test the effectiveness of the Nike crews throughout the nation.

Pacifica Fuchsia Exhibit

The Pacifica branch of the Amreican Fuchsia Society, Bernard King, president, and the Art Guild of Pacifica, Ken Strong, president, have jointly arranged a one-day exhibition to be held on Saturday, August 18, from 10 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. at the Pacifica City Hall.

These two leaders believe that their combined show will enable people to view the lovely fuchsias grown in Pacifica, as well as prize-winning paintings of local artists.

The fuchsia is the official flower of Pacifica. Recognizing this, Phil Reedstrom, one of the nation's leading hybridizers, brought out a new 1962 introduction that he has named "City of Pacifica."

This beautiful flower will be officially dedicated at the ceremony starting at 10 a. m. Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, mistress of ceremonies, will present the plant to Pacifica through its mayor, George Mason. Mrs. Calhan will also award two additional plants as door prizes —even though there is no charge for the show.

An efficient committee, working with H. L. Curkendahl as chairman, has arranged for a plant table, where the new fuchsia as well as other lovely speciments may be purchased by those who desire them.

Profits from the sale will be given to the park, beach and recreation department to reimburse it for the expense of the water pipes laid in the Calera Creek Park, Vallemar, where the Fuchsia Society has planted a fuchsia garden.

This is the third annual show for the Pacifica branch, but the first one to be arranged in conjunction with the Art Guild. The public is invited and earnestly urged to attend this very colorful affair.

SKELETON IN CLOSET IS NOW A PLASTIC

In the good old days, the chances were that that skeleton in the doctor's closet came from some grimy grave.

Today, according to the National Automobile Club, the chances are that it came from some plastic factory where it was put together from an oil derived resin molded to resemble human bones.

The new type skeleton might not be so romantic in a macabre way, but it has the advantage that broken parts can be easily replaced and the teeth that go with it are 32 and all perfect in their own plastic way.

Down The Sink!

No one objects to the Food and Drug Administration's authority to hold up the marketing of a new medicine if there is doubt as to its safety. But a proposal which would make it possible for the FDA to refuse to approve a new drug unless and until the entire medical profession agreed on its effectiveness is a horse of a very different color.

In scientific matters, as in other fields, there's always a body of opinion which is extremely skeptical of all new proposals. For example, Jenner's vaccination for smallpox, Semmelweis' contribution to the prevention of puerperal fever, and Findlay's discovery of the role played by the mosquito in transmitting yellow fever, met with doubts and head-shaking from many authorities. Cod liver oil was rejected as worthless by an authoritive medical body as late as 1919.

Penicillin provides an especially dramatic example of this kind of skepticism. An outstanding authority dismissed early reports on it as incredible —and when he was offered a culture for testing he poured it down the sink!

If the proposed law should pass, many a new drug will go down the sink, and medical progress will be retarded accordingly. A spokesman for the American Medical Association put the case clearly when he said: "A drug which is, on the average, less efficacious than another, must still be available to every physician, since it may be completely efficacious in treating the medical problems of one of his patients. We do not practice medicine on the average—we seek to solve or alleviate the problems of each and every patient."

Far Cry From Olden Days

It's a far cry indeed from the old-time "emporium," with its barrel of crackers and its bolts of gingham, to today's department and variety stores, with their virtually unlimited offerings of necessities and luxuries.

To say that is to say the completely obvious. But still, it can bear repeating — for most of us take progress, in retailing as in other fields, for granted, forgetting just how great the changes for the better have been.

Those changes are always going on, in big ways and small. A new experimental project of a national chain system underlines that fact. It will offer original paintings, ranging in price from $15 to $3,000, with most selling for less than $500. To begin with, it will try the idea out in ten stores. If there is a sufficient popular response, it will eventually be extended to the company's 400 stores. The goal is to bring art to areas where it is not otherwise available.

You may never buy a painting, from this or any other source. But this chain system's new project gives an idea of the lengths to which modern retailing, in our competitive economy, go to attract and to please every segment of the consuming public.

Two Must Go Together

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States is one of the many groups which favors substantial tax reductions as a spur to lagging business.

At the same time, the Chamber emphasized the need for an accompanying rigid economy program in government. In its view, cuts of more than five billion dollars could be made in the budget for fiscal 1963 without harm to any essential program or service.

The Chamber's tax reduction plan involves several steps: A cut in top bracket individual income rates from 91 per cent to 65 per cent; splitting of the lowest individual tax bracket, with a 15 per cent rate on the lower portion; proportionate adjustment of the rates between the maximum and the minimum; reduction of the corporate tax rate from the present 52 per cent to 47 per cent. The result would be a spur to consumer spending and, more important in the long run, stimulated capital investment by enterprise. This is the source of more and better jobs—just as it is the source of more tax revenues in the future.

But — a big cut in taxes without a cut in the spending could prove disastrous.

The People Pay

What idea, what philosophy, dominated the minds of the men who founded this country, and laid down the principles they meant it to abide by?

Thomas Jefferson expressed a fundamental thought perfectly when he said: "I am for a government that is rigorously frugal and simple, and not for one that multiplies offices to make partisans, that is, to get votes, and by every device increases the public debt under the guise of being a public benefit."

Admittedly, there have been vast changes in the nation and the world since the great Jefferson's day. But this does not excuse the development of an attitude which makes the attraction of votes the paramount objective of great numbers of government officials who show small concern for the value of the dollar and who seek more and more monolithic and dictatorial power.

The people put up every dollar that is returned to them by government through welfare state charity. And they pay not only in money but in the infinitely more important coin of lost liberty.

The View From .. Behind The Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

Sergeants three . . .

It is 2 o'clock and the oral examination board is convened. The examiners will probe, verbally, the likes and dislikes, the qualifications and shortcomings, the predispositions and personalities of three Sergeants.

The Sergeants are candidates for promotion to an open Lieutenant's slot. They have passed, successfully, a perusal of their individual qualifications, and a previously conducted written examination. They have been successful thus far in their promotional quest.

The inquisition is hosted by William Hawley, Daly City Administrative Assistant. Robert Young is there, representing the City Personnel Board. It is he who will keep things "honest," in the unlikely event something should appear to be other than above-board. Lieutenant Hansen represents the Daly City Police.

These are the non-voting members; they are observers and watchdogs, but they do not conduct the examination. The examiners are two high-ranking veteran police officers from other jurisdictions, carefully and secretly selected.

William Faulstich is Chief of Police for Redwood City. He is a graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy. He is a veteran policeman; dapper, forthright, administratively minded—a happy combination of education and practical experience who knows people, especially policemen.

Clarence Silva is a Captain of Police for the City of San Mateo. Sartorially, he might pass for a businessman. Another veteran policeman, he is night Captain for his department, and prevails over the night watches from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m. nightly.

The candidates face the firing squad singly. As a guideline, one-half hour is set aside for each candidate's torture. Should more time be needed, however, more is available. The examiners may use all the time they feel necessary to accomplish their purpose.

For the most part, the same questions are asked of each man. Each man answers in his own way. Knowing people, and dealing with all sorts in their work, the Sergeants are each as calm as a man can be when facing people who hold the realization of an ambition in their collective hands.

"What is the Cahan decision? What impact has it had upon search and seizure? What has it done to police work as a whole?"

"What is the Lane decision? What effect has that had upon local ordinances?"

"Why are you better qualified for the position of Lieutenant than are your opponents?"

Then, supervision questions, and administrative questions, and questions concerning the handling of personnel. The realm of hypothetical situations is explored. Educational accomplishments are touched upon, and individual police experience is searched.

Sergeant Jerry Galindo, the first man in the hot seat, responds affably, and at times humorously. His answers are matter-of-fact, following a discussion of all aspects of a question.

In response to a question, Galindo explains his role in the exchange of gunfire between him and the notorious "Cat" burglar, one dark night in a clump of trees on a golf course.

Sergeant Charles Terry is the second man in the chair. He is serious and straightforward. He knows his decisions quite well, and discusses them at length with his interrogators.

When asked, Terry recounts, briefly, how he won a Peninsula Police Officer's Meritorious Award a number of years ago. The story has to do with a battle through the surf, with the happy result of saving a boy who had been stranded at Mussel Rock.

Sergeant Richard Sims, uniformed and intense, next faces the questioners. The questions are well answered as the investigators continue their probing. As did the others, Sims holds his own with the Chief and the Captain.

In answer to a query, Sims recounts how he won a Departmental Commendation for his part in the capture and disarming of a sawed-off shotgun wielding bandit-kidnapper in the loft of a supermarket.

The tests are over. They have taken about two and a half hours. Faulstich and Silva record their marks for each man. They speak favorably of the candidates. Someone has to win out, of course: in this case, no one has won by default. All hands have turned in a commendable job.

Hawley puts the marking sheets away. Grades will be totaled, and averaged with the written scores. When the Lieutenant's eligibility list has been promulgated by the Personnel Board, the standings will be public knowledge—and not before.

More discussion, then, about the merits of the candidates. The examiners are really most complimentary about all three.

Faulstich and Silva return to their cities. Hawley, Young, and Hansen return to their jobs. Galindo, Terry, and Sims return to their own devices—to sweat it out.

Romantic Islands Of The World

Since ancient times, men of wealth and power have been irresistibly drawn to romantic island resorts. Roman Emperor Tiberius, in the 1st century, made a luxurious personal playground of Italy's famed Isle of Capri, today a scenic tourist retreat.

U.S. islands also cast their magic spell. In the 19th century, Jekyll Island, off the Georgia coast was owned by a group of the nation's richest families. Rockefellers, Morgans and Vanderbilts bathed on beaches under which infamous Edward Teach, Blackbeard the pirate, is reputed to have buried gold doubloons valued at more than $1-million.

A state park and wild life preserve today, Jekyll Island retains its original beauty — white sandy beaches and semi-tropical climate, yet boasts the most modern of tourist facilities. Typical is the 280 room Wanderer Resort Motel, which draws guests from all over the nation. Here ordinary citizens fish, sail, golf and swim as millionaire vacationists did generations ago.

K

by JACK WOOD

All five members of the Pacifica city council, which recently reversed plans for a gas station on a lot on Linda Mar boulevard, were served notices to appear in court by lot owners who badly want a gas station on the residential corner.

The object is to force the city to issue a building permit for construction of the highly controversial filling station near historic Sanchez Adobe.

Notices were served in connection with a writ of mandamus issued in Superior Court at Redwood City. The writ was obtained by Vernon Vale, attorney for Victor and Jennie Magrin, owners of the land.

The writ of mandamus requires the council to either have a building inspector issue a building permit or show cause why it should not be made to do so.

This grew out of the council denying architectural approval to the Union Oil Company for a gas station near the intersection of Linda Mar boulevard and Adobe drive. Court hearing was continued until August 21.

Fifth Largest

San Francisco International Airport has become the fourth largest commercial air hub in the nation and fifth largest in the world. According to Belford Brown, airport general manager, an analysis of 1961 passenger totals indicate that International Airport has moved ahead of Washington, D. C.

Although the FAA report rates Washington ahead of International Airport in the total of enplaned passengers — 2,256,510 to 2,077,681 — these figures are compiled from interstate and international scheduled air carriers.

Anti-Density

Members of the Town Hall Association of San Mateo County have expressed concern over the proposed Westborough Master Plan. They claim the high density housing plan might have an adverse effect on school taxes and that the development might be the site of a future "slum clearance" project.

One of the objections to the development plan, when it was being considered by the County Planning Commission, was that not enough usable land had been given for park purposes. The developers have agreed to donate 124 acres of steep hillside land for parks and set aside 10 acres of flat land for future purchase by the county.

Food For Thought

By the Daly City Ministerial Association

Let us reflect for a moment upon one of the basic tenets of the Declaration of Independence formed in these words: "We hold these truths to be self-evident —that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Here — as in the Constitution of the United States —the declared position is the worth and ultimate value of a human personality. The purpose of the Declaration and Constitution was to secure and maintain "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness" for each person who would value this blessing by his own free choice, but too often we have been guilty of denying this blessing to ourselves and to others.

Freedom, true human worth, and respect can only be based upon the basic assumption of our Founding Fathers that there is a Creator who presides over the destiny of men and to whom we owe allegiance. Too often we have given our allegiance to something or someone else, other than God, and thus we have surrendered our freedom.

True freedom comes in right relationship of persons to God, who as spirits is a Person, too. Anything or anyone less than God is inadequate to rule our lives as persons created for "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Man's true end is to "glorify God" in his freedom. The corollary of this is that only as we respect other men as persons can we live as free citizens and children of God. Too often men and women have used others as "things" for their own advantage with no respect of the tool as a person.

This is illustrated in incidents day by day as recorded in our newspapers. The poet has aptly said: "Men crown the knave, and scourge the tool that did his will . . ."

Where do we derive our freedom? From the Creator. How do we secure this freedom? By personal allegiance to our Creator in the light of His revelation to men. Thus we are enabled to treat and respect others as persons with the same rights and possibilities.

Broadmoor Nazarene Church.

Something For Everyone

by Samuel Chandler

As the depths of tragedy closed in on King Lear and his party, someone cried out, "As flies to wanton boys are we to the gods; They kill us for their sport." Elizabeth Barret Browning, filled with ecstasy, wrote to her husband, "I love thee to the depth and bredth and height my soul can reach." At seventy-five, Walter Savage Landor said: "I warmed my hands before the fire of life. It sinks, and I am ready to depart."

"Sitting in the dust with maggots all over him," Job cried in triumph, "though after my skin worms destroy this body yet in my flesh shall I see God. Whom I shall see for myself, and mine eyes shall behold not another."

These are bits of poetry, expressive and beautiful. Poems are written to express the deepest thoughts and the most heartfelt love, hate, joy, sorrow, pleasure, hunger, hope, dejection. Poetry is the expression of the human mind and emotion.

The master poets are people who are able to give this expression words and rhythm. Carlyle called poetry musical thought. Shelly said that "poetry is the record of the best and happiest moments of the best and happiest minds." Wordsworth called poetry "the imaginative expression of strong feeling . . . the spontaneous overflow of powerful feelings.

Today, with its frustrations, its problems that play upon the emotions, its shallow concepts of love and romance, calls upon us to become poetry readers.

It is no harder to read poetry than it is to sing. Poetry need not be memorized to be enjoyed. It is not hard to understand poetry. If there is difficulty, it stems from the readers' failure to understand deep feelings and true happiness. Surely no man can be callow and smug who spends a few hours with Shakespeare or T. S. Eliot or Isaiah or — well, the list is long, and the reading rewording.

An editorial on "Yankee Imperialism" by Dr. Ricardo Castro Beeche, editor of La Nacion, Costa Rica's leading newspaper, comes as a cheerful interlude amid all the fuss and fury of the Fidel Castro Communistic regime in Cuba and tells the world how the "American way" is regarded by another Latin nation to the South of us: Says Dr. Beeche: "Yankee Imperialism means a country which has gone into two world wars with enormous sacrifice of lives and money and which hasn't taken a single inch of land from the beaten countries. It means a nation which devoted hundreds of millions of dollars to the reconstruction of battle-torn countries after World War II through the Marshall Plan . . . Yankee Imperialism says a man has a right to happiness through a worthy life. Perhaps the Soviets could tell us how this compares with Russian Imperialism. The Soviets hold all the countries defeated by them under their yoke without any freedom at all."—Winter Haven (Fla.) Herald.

Today it costs the people of the United States 90 times as much to govern twice as many people at it did 50 years ago. . . . SM County's Public Utility Assessments Up From Last Yr.

The State Board of Equalization has fixed assessed valuations for public utilities totalling $4,206,139,810 for 1962—an increase of 3.46 per cent over the 1961 valuations.

The figures were approved on motion of State Controller Alan Cranston, chairman of the board committee which studied utilities valuations. The utility companies have until August 20 to petition for reassessment, after which the board will distribute the valuations to the 58 counties for their property tax rolls.

"This statewide increase of more than 140 million dollars in the valuation of state-assessed tangible property reflects the continued solid growth of California and the consistent forward movement of our economy," Cranston commented.

"Our assessment figures were determined only after lengthy and conscientious study. Our conclusions represent an informed judgment, independently arrived at."

The committee submitted to the board a table showing the valuations of state-assessed property by counties. San Mateo County's total for 1962 is $77,197,680, compared with a 1961 total of $75,836,130.

Representatives of Atchison, Topeka & Sante Fe Railroad Company, Western Pacific Railroad Company, Union Pacific Railroad Company and Southern Pacific Company petitioned immediately for reassessment. Pacific Gas and Electric Company and others have indicated they will take a similar action at the August 20 meeting of the board.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, for the second consecutive year, is California's largest utility, with a valuation fixed at $1,206,000,000. It was assessed at $1,149,000,000 last year. PG&E is second with $1,155,000,000 compared with $1,126,000,000 in 1961.

Q.—What are the conditions on which a U.S. veteran may receive medical care at VA expense in the foreign country in which he is residing?

A.—He must be a U.S. citizen, must be residing only temporarily in the foreign country, and must need medical care for a disease or disability that has been ruled service-connected by the Veterans Administration. The exception is for veterans of United States military service who live in the Philippines, where these conditions do not apply.

Olympia, W. Wilson For Younger Kids

(This is the sixth in a series of articles on the recreation facilities offered by the City of Daly City.)

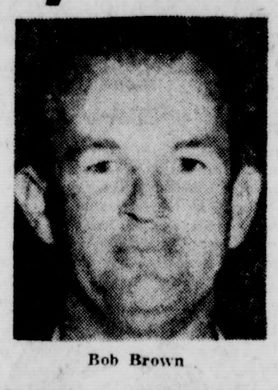
By GARRY NIVER

The pretty miss retrieved the kick ball for the young boys and returned to her post of supervising the little girls engaged in a four square game, while at the same time keeping a watchful eye on checker and ping pong action inside the building.

The busy girl is Margo Sinclair, youthful and vibrant Daly City recreation leader at Olympia playground.

The large hard-topped playground area, with basketball courts, softball diamond and gymnastic play area, is nestled against the southern corner of San Francisco's famed Olympic golf course. Bordering the recreation area, which is known as Olympia school for nine months of the year, is Northgate avenue.

Margo, a graduate of South San Francisco High School and a junior at San Jose State, is in her first year with the Daly City recreation department and has drawn the plaudits of her superiors. The attendance at Olympia School has risen to 475 weekly, most of them smaller children.



Bob Brown

Besides kickball, four square, softball and basketball, the area offers dodgeball and relay races out of doors. Inside the all purpose room the children are kept occupied with carom, checkers, coloring and other "quiet" games. They are also instructed in special classes of arts and crafts, and music.

The playground and all purpose room are open from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday. On Saturday, the playground opens at 11 a. m. and closes at 3 p. m.

Over in the old part of Daly City, Woodrow Wilson playground resembles the newer Olympia playground in its hard-top play area and the prevalance of small, sub-teen children.

Roger Miller, head baseball and wrestling coach at Terra Nova High School, is the overseer of this group. Miller, who has been with the Daly City recreation department for 18 months, keeps the children happy indoors with coloring contests, tumbling and the usual "quiet" games.

Margo Sinclair

Roger Miller

Outside, Miller organizes the youths into teams for games — bring-home-the-bacon, tetherball and kickball.

"We get real good response on all of our special activities," Miller said.

In a recent outing of the Daly City recreation department at Montara beach, two of Miller's charges—Mike Quigley and Alice Walton — won prizes for artistic displays.

Located at the intersection of Santa Barbara and Knowles avenues, the Woodrow Wilson grounds draw about 350 youngsters per week. It is open from 1 to 5 p. m. daily.

One of the most welcomed sights at Woodrow Wilson, and at any playground for that matter, is Bob Brown. Brown, the head of the physical education department at Pelton High School in San Francisco, travels to the various centers each week and shows movie cartoons.

The crew-cut mentor has been a member of the Daly City recreation department for five years. Where he goes, the projector and "Sylvester Putty-Cat" go, and so do the kids.

Last Saturday, having a few extra bucks and a day of leisure, we decided to try our chances with Lady Luck at Bay Meadows racetrack. It was the last day of the eight-day San Mateo County Fair meet and we felt that the horses might need a little hay to hold them through the long, hard winter which lies ahead.

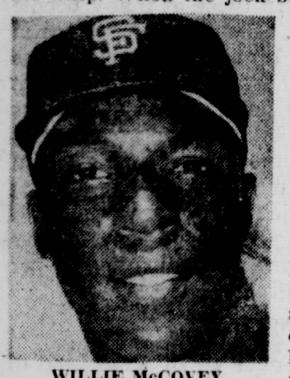
On our way to the track we ran into an old acquaintance of ours who knows horses as good as anybody. Our friend, approaching his fifties, has been around racetracks most of his life. He was on his way to his job in the concessions at the track. When the Northern California tracks are closed, this friend usually plies his trade as a caddy.

Our course of conversation quickly got around to the tragic death of young jockey Ruben Martinez last Thursday at the track. The 23-year-old apprentice was thrown from his mount, Cee Hunter, in the home stretch turn when it suddenly veered into the rail and stopped dead.

Our friend had been present and witnessed the accident. The concensus of track officials was that Martinez, who had a good two-length lead aboard the heavy favorite, was whipping the horse on his right side, causing him to veer left.

This friend of ours had his own opinion as to why it happened, and like most old sages of the track world, his seemed to make more sense.

He pointed out that every horse is trained with the whip. When the jock begins flailing its sides, the horse usually responds by lengthening out its strides. Now Cee Hunter was no maiden filly and had tasted the whip many times before.



WILLIE McCOVEY

Here is our friend's theory of why he thinks the mount bolted:

At Bay Meadows they run the sulkie or trotter horses prior to the thoroughbreds. They use a separate track which is just on the inside of the regular thoroughbred oval, separated by the aluminum fence which Martinez struck with his head.

The fence separating the inside oval from the outside oval is very low, not more than four feet high, and the dirt of the two is indistinguishable. Race horses, trained to hug the rail, usually automatically head into the inside, grabbing the coveted rail position.

According to our authority, a horse running with his head high might not see the short railing which separates the two tracks. What he might see would be the trotter track in the inside and his horse sense would tell him that was where he was supposed to be.

Our friend, who knows horses better than he does people, said that was what it looked like to him. At the last moment the horse sensed the railing and stopped short, hurling Martinez into the rail.

Our expert buddy warned that this tragedy could be repeated unless some steps are taken to alleviate the similarity of the two tracks.

In our opinion the race officials could easily cover the inner track with a tarp or spread a few layers of black top soil on top to present a contrast.

Let's hope that the racing commission becomes cognizant of this perilous situation before the track opens again in late October. Although corrective measures now won't bring back the life of young Ruben, it could prevent a similar tragedy from happening in the future.

ON THE SIDELINES . . . Radio sportscaster Bill Laws, who is also general manager of Tanforan Golf Course, reports the future of the track and his golf course looks very promising.

Recent rumors have indicated that the famed race emporium and the golf course would be sold to home developers.

Laws says that the track is planning to dump $200,000 in repairs and alterations into the track before the season opens in September of 1963. So the Tanforan Golf Course looks like it will be around for a while.

Reports have it that MacClymond's jumping Joe Ellis, the top cage prospect in Northern California, is headed for the hilltop at USF.

It is rather ironical that some tragedy must befall the Giants before McCovey gets in the line-up.

Misracks Move Into 1st Place Tie

Misracks Sporting Goods of Daly City moved into a tie for first with Sun Valley Dairy and M & S Builders in the Tri-City Midget Baseball League last week when they edged the Dairymen, 6-5.

Sun Valley will meet M & S to play off their tie tonight at 6 o'clock at Buri Buri Park, in addition to their scheduled final game Friday against Parkview at San Bruno. The Builders meet the PAL Sergeants at Buri Buri Park Friday for their finale.

Misracks play hosts to Sunshine Gardens Improvements Club on Thursday, and then will close out their season against Parkview in a make-up of the game which was fogged out.

Wins by Sun Valley and M & S Builders in their Friday night tilts will mean at least a tie for the crown for tonight's winner, while Misracks can clinch the title Friday with a pair of wins.

In their win over Sun Valley, Misracks jumped off to a 3-0 first-inning lead, added one in the second, and scored the deciding tallies in the fourth. Sun Valley picked up a single run in the third and then took a short-lived 5-4 lead when they scored four times in the third.

Bob Hildenbager went all the way on the mound for Misracks, getting hitting support from Abe Schaffer, John Ward and Roland Franz, with two hits each. Bob Romero went the distance for Sun Valley, with the big Dairy blows being doubles by Lou Lodfigiani and Steve Morello.

Bruce Brian pitched his second straight shutout for the M & S Builders as they took a 6-0 win over the Winston Seals to move into a first-place tie. After six innings of 0-0 ball, the Builders erupted for the six runs in the top of the seventh for the win.

Brian, fresh off a no-hit, no-run effort against the PAL Officers, fanned 13 and gave up four hits. Rocky Walker's bases-loaded triple was the big blow for the winners, while Luke Lenich made the defensive play of the day with a diving tag at the plate to cut off a Seal run.

Matt Whitmore's triple was the Seals' big blow of the day, while Mike Callero and Don Kline teamed up to pitch good ball for the losers.

Other action saw Parkview edge the PAL Detectives, 2-1, and the PAL Sergeants and Sunshine Gardens battled to a 2-2 tie. Vacation took its toll from the PAL Officers as they were forced to forfeit to the San Bruno Merchants.

Stumble Inn Edges Firehouse

The Stumble Inn and Ye Old Firehouse battled it out this week in a torrid game that saw the Stumble Inn come through, 2-1. Bill Grosser led off the seventh with a double and Tim Curtin hit a single, scoring Grosser for the winning run. Watso and Underwood gave both clubs good representation on the mound. Bob Goldi continued his hitting streak with two for four and Hank Morgan made several nice catches for the Inn.

Daly City Billiards took one from Rex Green Plumbing, 9-3, with Tim McInerny pitching a six-hitter. The Billiards' home run hitters included Don Felts, Pete Garcia and Gil Moreno.

Daly City Drugs and Skyline Cleaners ended a tough ball game with a 4-4 tie. Hits by Simmi, Friedman, Brogett and Ferretti put the Cleaners ahead. Medrano, Patron, Pedroni and Miramonte tied the game up. Brown put the Cleaners ahead again with an RBI. The Drugs then tied the game as Medrano walked, Patron singled and Pedroni drove in Medrano with a single.

St. Clair's Liquors edged out Lee's Pharmacy, 6-4, in a close game. Vic Rowen, Paul Rundell, Jim Sochor, Tom Morgan and Bob Martin accounted for the five St. Clair hits. Jeff Stahl hit three for three for Lees.

Del Underwood whiffed nine batters, walked one and gave up only four hits as his Stumble Inn team took a 12-1 victory from the Daly City Billiards. Leo Martinez and Tim Curtin each got two for four.

The Old Firehouse club edged out the Skyline Cleaners in a 6-5 win. Four Firehouse base hits accounted for the six RBIs. These were singles by Marino Peretti, Jerry Kennedy and Bob Black, and a double by Tony Hurst.

The South San Francisco Native Sons went on a hitting spree as they dumped Rex Green Plumbing, 24-2. Later in the week they took a 9-1 victory over Lee's Pharmacy. Pitcher Bill Mendoza hit two for two. Pat Cassidy also hit two for three for the Natives. Catcher Mike Kennedy of the Natives hit two for three and made several great throws to Walt Theds on second for put-outs.

Local Coach, Stars In Legion Ball Regionals

The San Francisco Police Post American Legion baseball team, co-coached by Joe Sarto of Daly City, left yesterday for Las Vegas, New Mexico, to compete for the Western Regional championships.

Sarto, a well-known Daly City baseball pioneer, and owner of the Villa Sanatarium in Colma, co-coached the team to victories over Lodi, San Diego, Sacramento and West Covina at Yountville last week to gain the state championship.

The SF American Legion team features two local diamond heroes, Terry Christman, formerly of Westmoor, and George Claus, a Jefferson High graduate.

Christman, a star at SF State last semester, hurled the SF team to a 5-4 triumph over Lodi in the opener. In the second game, Claus, an infielder, came on the mound to preserve a 10-5 win over San Diego.

In Sunday's championship game, St. Ignatius' Joe Gualco turned back West Covina, 16-8. Claus was the batting star in the final game, getting four hits in six trips to the plate.

The San Francisco team was the only team in the tourney to go undefeated.

BYA Matadors Romp To Win Over Holy Angels

The BYA Matadors added a shutout game to their record this week in the Marchbanks Division as Doug Rosen, Larry Bray and Ken Roberts took turns on the mound to blank the Holy Angels Lions, 21-0. Allan Miller led the Matadors with four for four, including a home run, two doubles and a single, plus five RBIs. Teammate Mike Ferris tallied three for three, with two triples.

In the fifth inning, the Yanks tied up the score at 5-5. At this point, Morton took over the mound for Wendt and held the Yanks. Dana Marcus broke the game with a triple in the top of the seventh to bring the Foresters out on top, 7-5.

The PAL Giants, and the arm and bat of Albert Leiske, defeated OLPH, 11-2. Leiske allowed the OLPH team only four hits and collected two at the plate. Flaherty and Radford hit triples for the losers. Steve Morris hit three singles for the Giants, with Pinelli and Aceituno starring on defense for the victors.

There's nothing like a sneak punch.

It comes from out of nowhere. The punch usually lands smack in the belly and folds up the bad guy.

Charlie Hiller is the sneak punch on the San Francisco Giants—and manager Alvin Dark didn't even know he had it last spring in Phoenix.

Alvin knew he had dynamite in his outfield, which packs enough power to KO the best in the National League. He knew that his infield was good too. That is, except for that miserable headache of one position, second base.

San Francisco has had trouble at second base for years and Dark must have suspected that Hiller was another lemon last March. He said that "Hiller will have to show me that he's a major leaguer."

Today, with the season almost gone, the Giants are still a pennant contender and Chuck Hiller's been a killer.

Should Charlie continue his present pace, he will finish the season hitting around .280. And no second baseman has done that for the Giants since the club moved here from Gotham.

Hiller's work on the ball club has gone unnoticed too many times. Maybe it's because he doesn't have that undescribable thing malled "color." But this writer would venture to say that he will be the Giants regular second baseman for years to come.

Charlie, who broke into organized baseball in '57 with Cocoa in the Class D League, used to have trouble going to his right behind second second base. But the near-rookie apparently has licked the problem. Last Saturday, in the Giants 10-3 saga against the dirty Dodgers, Hiller went to his right like he never did before. He leaped up and speared a redstone triggered from the bat of Tommy Davis and he turned it into a double play.

Hiller is a heckuva lot better ballplayer than he was a year ago, when he played half a season with the Giants. Then he got the heartbreaking news that he was to finish to finish the season with Tacoma.

When the Giants stoked the Houston and New York drafts last winter, that was all Hiller needed. Last year's regular second baseman Joe Amalfitano and Eddie Bressoud left town, leaving the job to Chuck.

Charlie's actions remind many of the managers and coaches of Nellie Fox, that sassy little guy who was such an integral part of the White Sox success.

One noticeable change in Hiller's batting pattern with the Giants this year is that he's not hitting the ball as far as in 1961, when he had his "cup of coffee" with the parent club.

Chuck admitted that he tried to bust down the fences . . . and he's not that type of player. Now he just meets the ball.

He has also settled into a fine doubleplay combo man with shortstop Jose Pagan, who incidentally is another fellow who is ripening into a splendid stick of Cuban sugar in the Giant infield.

Cool on the field, Charlie has one release after a game. He takes the tension off by chain smoking as many as three cigarettes in his stall in the Giant dressing room.

Most of the time he will not take a smoke at all during the day. That is, except for that brief recess between the battlefield and he leaves for his home in the Shoreview district in San Mateo.

Charlie's the "banger" type. That's the kind of ballplayer who throws a friendly elbow or playful punch at a teammate or pal. And he doesn't mind taking a whack in return.

But the National League teams don't appreciate Hiller's sneak punch.

It was something they didn't see comin.'

PAL Constables Grab Two Wins

The PAL Constables' Don Feretti won his fourth and fifth games in league play this week, downing the PAL Indians, 2-1, and Harrison Realty, 5-1. The Tribe outhit the Constables, four to two, but could not cross the plate at the right time.

The Realty team went down hard, also, with Feretti allowing only one hit. Jerry Sabeck hit a long (home run) ball for the Constables. Feretti whiffed 15 batters in this game.

Misracks stayed in the running by taking BYA Bender Roofing, 6-4. Bob Hilsendager, Ed Schweitzer, Bob Perkov and Steve Gudelj all hit the ball well for the Misracks. Getchel and Mathes were big men at the plate for the Roofers. Jim McGuire, the Misracks' second sacker, helped considerably as his defensive play offset the fact the the Roofers out-hit the Misracks.

BYA Relish Bakery collected nine hits to defeat Parkmerced, 9-1. Parkmerced loaded the bases five times but were held to one run by double plays and heads-up fielding. Ron Papes was the winning pitcher while Greg Evans and Eddie Nathan were outstanding at the plate for Parkmerced.

Bob Nolan put down BYA George Harrison Realty for the PAL Redsox this week, 4-1. Bob held the Realtors to four hits. Dan O'Donnell got two hits and Mike Dawdle slammed a bases-loaded double for the PAL Redsox. Gordy Contreras had a triple and a single for Harrison.

Annual Scottish Games Sept. 2 In Santa Rosa

The Western United States Open Highland dancing championships will be held for the first time this year as a part of the 97th annual Scottish gathering and games, Sunday, September 2, at the Santa Rosa fairgrounds.

Advance entries from the Pacific Coast and Canada indicate that this year's games will be the largest ever. Contestants garbed in the traditional kilts will vie for prizes and honors in some 40 classifications for massed bands, pipers, drummers, Highland dancers, and track and heavy field events.

Special attractions of the all-day gathering will be a professional piping quartet exhibition, and the tossing of the caber. Traditional to all Scottish games, caber tossing was the favorite sport of Henry VIII. This year the caber has been expressly sent from Scotland by Geo. Ballantine & Son of Dumbarton, Scotland. It is 18 feet, 120 pounds, and has been authenticated by the Braemar Royal Highland Society. Anyone present may attempt to toss the caber by flipping it end over end.

The first event of the day will commence at 9 o'clock in the morning, while the official opening ceremonies will be held in front of the grandstand at 1 p. m.

This colorful gathering is hosted by the Caledonian Club of San Francisco and is open to the public. Ample picnic and parking space is available at the fairgrounds. Admission is $1.25 for adults, while children under 12 are admitted free. Proceeds of the games will be given to charity.

Hikes, Zoo Top DC Rec Program

Last Thursday fun and new experiences continued under the supervision of Daly City Recreation leaders. The youth of our city ventured to the hills of San Bruno. One hundred and fifty boys and girls from Daly City playgrounds played and hiked in beautiful Junipero Serra Park.

Recreation specialist Dave Ashworth directed the outing, assisted by Paul Crowley and 13 recreation playground leaders.

At the same moment another 150 children from playgrounds were exploring the animal wonders of the world at Fleishhaker Zoo. Bob Brown, recreation specialist, and nine playground leaders provided supervision for the zoo exploration. Most of the youngsters felt that the most exciting animal was the water-spitting, dirt-throwing ape.

Olympia

A carrom tournament was held at Olympia School to determine the champion of this popular game. The tournament had 28 participants. Bob Salzberg took first place, Art Pussotto second, and Tim Wilson third. Other participants with honorable mention were Joe Boreli, Neville Wall, David Pussotto and Dee Dee Tisier.

Jefferson Elementary

The main event at the playground this week was the softball game against Marchbanks Park. When the smoke cleared, Little Jeff came out on top by a score of 17-2. Rightfielder Billy Heinsel got three hits and Terry Picardo, Dick Perata, Roy Chipari, Vince Leveroni, Mike Chardella, Len Firpo all picked up two hits. Petucci slammed an inside-the-park home run. Dave Nannini pitched a three-hitter.

Marchbanks Park

Marchbanks Park held its annual track meet Tuesday, July 24. The meet consisted of two divisions—Junior, ages 7-9, and Senior, ages 10-14. Both divisions competed in three events, namely 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash and the standing broad jump. Winners in both divisions were:

Juniors—1st, Bob Walker; 2nd, Tony Moss; 3rd, Blair Vers.

Seniors—1st, Roy Francesconi; 2nd, Pete Jank; 3rd, Bill Francesconi.

The meet was held on the lower field of the park with a total of 39 boys participating.

Frankfort Park

Mike Novosel eliminated Gary Maestas, Gary Wrend and Paul London to take first in a carrom tournament. Taking second in the 9-13 age group was Gary Wrend, a 7-year-old youngster who was permitted to enter because of his skill. Paul London and Gary Maestas came in third and fourth, respectively. Two extra games were played to break a third-place tie.

In the younger age group, 7-9, Gary Wrend won an easy first. Taking second was Mike Clements but not until after a hard-fought battle with his brother, Pat, who came in third.

George Washington

Highlights of two weeks ago featured George Washington's participation in the Pirate Day at the beach outing. George Washington took second place in the annual Treasure Hunt and Display Contest. Tony Salazar won a prize for his participation in decorating the display and for his discovery of a very rare seaweed plant. Linda Howe won a prize for her very unusual and exotic shell collection.

On Tuesday, a two-square contest was held for the boys and girls. Winner in the girls' division was Maureen Bianchini, first place, and Chris Fleming, second. Louis Ozenne was the top boy.

Plans are now being made to pick an all-around boy and girl in the various recreation activities held this summer.

Colma School

During the last two weeks at Colma, several children have been constructing a stick model airplane. As the model is being constructed, the basic principles of flight and control of the aircraft are explained. Nine Local Golf Courses Hold Cancer Tournament

Nine San Mateo County golf clubs will participate in the American Cancer Society's fourth annual Babe Didrickson Zaharias Memorial Golf Tournament, August 24 through September 1, County Chairman Mrs. Warren B. Parsons announced this week.

Participating courses include California Golf Club in South San Francisco, Sharp Park Golf Course in Pacifica, Green Hills Country Club in Millbrae, Burlingame Country Club, Crystal Springs Golf Club in Burlingame, San Mateo Municipal Golf Course, Peninsula Golf and Country Club in San Mateo, Menlo Country Club and Sharon Heights Golf and Country Club in Menlo Park.

Assisting Mrs. Parsons in planning the tournament is a county-wide committee which includes five members of the California state committee — Tom Fry, pro at San Mateo Muni; Robert E. Hanna of Menlo Park; Robert A. Roos, Jr., and Mrs. Gerald H. Trautman of Hillsborough, and Harvie Ward of San Mateo.

Among the subcommittee chairmen from various courses are Mrs. "Teak" Rea of California; Mrs. Gene Sebastiani and Mrs. A. R. Switzer at Sharp Park; Mrs. John D. St. Clair at Green Hills; Mrs. G. Lafata and Mrs. Carl W. Bettin, San Mateo Muni; Mrs. William E. Moore, Peninsula; Mrs. Scott McLaren and Mrs. Emmy Myers, Crystal Springs; professional Ran Saathoff at Burlingame; Mrs. James Stewart at Menlo and Mrs. Harold Edelen at Sharon Heights.

Local golfers—men and women in separate contests against different pros—can enter as often as they wish by purchasing a $1 ticket for each round played. They will match their lowest net handicap scores against the best gross scores chalked up by top professionals.

This year the male pros to beat will be Billy Casper, Jr., and Bob Rosburg. They'll set the target for Northern California golfers in an exhibition match at Alameda Golf Club on Saturday, September 1.

Because of conflicts in schedules, pro-ettes Betsy Rawls and Mickey Wright will not appear in a Northern California exhibition. But both are entered in the Esmeralda Open at Spokane, Wash., and whichever of them turns in the best score in the final round of that tournament on September 2 will be designated as the BDZ woman pro to beat.

Golfers successful in their bid to "beat the pros" will receive handsome commemorative awards. Those without established handicaps may compete by using the Calloway System to determine handicap strokes, according to Mrs. Parsons.

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

"Checker Board Square" is now in the lobby of the Westlake Bowl as the junior bowlers started a Checker Board Doubles tournament last Saturday, which will run until September 3 or until the board is filled. By bowling 40 or more pins over their combined averages, the team will have its name placed in a blank square. When the squares are filled, there will be a roll-off with those bowling the most pins over their average receiving trophies. Juniors may bowl any day between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Steve Bonuccelli set a torrid pace in the Peterson point trio as he started with a big 236 game, followed by 215 and 218, and then closed with a tremendous 254 effort.

Ed Gregoire continued his assault on the pins with another big night as he shot a 250 game and 63 series in the Twilight Mixed Fives as Judy Hottal led the ladies with a 171 game and a 484 series.

The elusive 600 series mark was a target for Val Valencia as he hit a 593 series with a high game of 213. Helen Vincent was high for the ladies with 201 and 548.

Lee Baldelli upheld the honor of Westlake in fine style last Wednesday at Union Square as she competed in the Miss 300 Contest, which kicked off the Aid Retarded Children benefit tournament. Although she did not win, she gave an excellent performance in her first appearance in competition

The tournament, which starts August 9 in 13 bowling centers in the San Francisco area, will run until September 16. This year there will be many valuable prizes awarded in each of the bowling centers plus a bonus roll-off of the winners from each establishment, which will be held at Westlake on September 29.

Midget Racers Will Compete At Alviso

The "mighty midgets" of the Bay Cities Racing Association will compete for the first time on the quarter-mile dirt oval at Alviso Speedway in a full program of events on Labor Day, it was announced by track officials.

Jack London, business manager of BCRA, said all the top northern California midget race drivers will enter the Alviso program, with Fords, Falcons and Offenhausers competing in the holiday night program.

Agreement for the midget races was reached at Alviso last Friday night during the running of two special 100-lap main events before a roaring crowd.

Winners of the main events were Jack Epperson of Milpitas in the Western Auto Racing hardtops and Butch Bishop of Redwood City in the NASCAR claiming stock cars.

The hardtop main, longest ever held at the track, found four cars and drivers turning the event into practically a 100-lap trophy dash — staying together all the way, only four cars in the same lap at the finish.

Epperson led from start to finish, but was unable to gain more than a car length on Stan Luhdorff of San Jose, despite heavy traffic with 30 cars entered. Third place went to Boots Cantrell of San Juan Bautista and fourth to Whitey White of San Jose.

The claiming stock car event was a wild affair with Bishop out-lasting the field to win. Other finish positions have not been announced, pending a re-check of scoring tapes.

Trophy dash winners were Don Colopy, San Jose hardtopper, and Jim Clennan, Santa Clara claimer pilot.

Ringling Bros. Circus Slated At Cow Palace

When better clowns are found dream up the funny situations for clowns, and builds the props needed by the clowns to carry through their hilarious gags. Whether it be Griebling, Jung, or any one of the many other clowns in the Ringling Bros-Barnum & Bailey circus, their aim is a very serious one—making you laugh.

Performances are scheduled at the Cow Palace on Fridays at 2:30 and 8 p. m.; Saturdays at 2:30 and 8 p. m., and Sundays at 2:30 and 6:30 p. m. Oakland shows are scheduled for 2:30 and 8 p. m. each day...

"The Greatest Show on Earth" — scheduled for the Cow Palace, August 24, 25 and 26; the Oakland Auditorium, August 28, 29 and 30, and the Cow Palace again on August 31 and September 1 and 2, has the greatest array of top clowns ever assembled in one circus.

Two of the foremost are Otto Griebling, the "tramp clown," who entertains the audience prior to the start of the performance, and also throughout the entire two and one-half hour show, and Paul Jung, known as a "producing clown."

Griebling is a sad-looking little pantomimist and master of improvisation (if you have ever seen the Ringling circus, you'll remember him). His famous ragged coat and pants, which always look like they have been pressed by a threshing machine, are his trademark.

Jung, meanwhile, works constantly throughout the entire show and in any spare moment is working on new circus tricks and ideas for next year's show. He is one of the men who

The Photography Center of the San Francisco recreation and park department will hold a special series of lectures and demonstrations on enlarging and printing starting August 22. These "quickie" courses consist of a two hour lecture and a two hour demonstration.

This is an opportunity to learn how to make enlargements of the pictures that you took during your summer vacation, or at any other time. It is recommended that a beginner come to at least one of the lectures and one of the demonstrations. The directors of the photo center will assure you that at the end of four hours anyone should be able to make a first class print from a good negative.

Rare Coins Taken In DC Burglary

A burglar entered the home of Mrs. Eleanor Vincent, 298 Crocker avenue, over the weekend and made off with $200 in valuable coins.

The burglary occurred some time between Friday and Sunday night while the occupant was away. Daly City police said that the burglar climbed over the backyard fence and entered the home through a rear window.

PAL Tiger Pitcher Hurls No-Hitter Over Flying A

Jim Davis gave the PAL Tigers a no-hitter this week as he collected a 16-1 victory over BYA Flying A. Davis KOd 15 out of 18 batters and walked four. Only one BYA batter hit the ball, that a ground-out to second base. Davis matched teammate Dave Romero with two hits at the plate. Sam Thomas hit a triple with the bases loaded.

The PAL Cubs moved up another notch as they went over OLPH this week, 7-2. Ron Mini kept the ball away from OLPH batters until the sixth inning. OLPH was only able to collect two hits off Mini, those by Siordia and Nannini. I. Jones, Alan Rideau and G. Deutsch were the hitters for the Cubs. Chelone did a good job on the mound for OLPH but did not receive the support at the plate.

Far West Division

In the Far West Division, vacations have played havoc with the week's schedule. Only one game was played. Luckless Art Colvin BYA came out of a slump to surprise league-leading South Sunset, 1-0. Sharp defensive play by Rex Arnott, John Heick and Ed Montague helped Ron Stefani shut out South Sunset.

Stefani helped the cause by striking out five and only walking three. Heick hit a triple and single for BYA and Terry Senn belted three singles for the losers. South Sunset had several scoring opportunities, losing one run at the plate and having another wiped out by a double play. Tom Olsen scored the winning run on a walk, two stolen bases and a ground ball. Steve Lee also pitched a fine game for South Sunset, fanning seven and walking five.

THE SPACIOUS Cypress Hills clubhouse sits sturdily atop a hill, overlooking the valley of the North Peninsula. Inside the clubhouse are a complete pro shop, the Tee Room cocktail lounge, and the famed Bunker Room Restaurant. A putting green is directly in front, while a large driving range is situated in the rear.

Cypress Hills — A Golfer's Paradise

By GARRY NIVER

The North Peninsula's newest and most challenging recreation spot lies nestled against the San Bruno Mountains in Colma, just off Hillside boulevard. It is Cypress Hills golf course, one of the most picturesque golf lay-outs in northern California.

Since its opening, seven months ago, the scenic nine-hole course has attracted divot lovers from all over northern California. The sprawling fairways, well studded with ominous traps, and outlined with aged hanging cypress trees, is situated on 40 acres.

The rolling fairways stretch out 2,150 yards and carry a par 30 for men and a par 33 for the ladies. The longest hole is number one, which measures 360 yards — all uphill with a slight dog-leg to the right.

According to Gus Pedemonte, general manager, plans are currently under way to enlarge the course another nine holes. The new addition is expected to be longer than the present lay-out, having a par of 34. Construction on the second nine is expected to be completed by the first of next year.

Another reason for the course's popularity is its congenial and distinguished-looking pro, Bob Silvestri. Silvestri, one of the top amateur golfers the Bay area has ever known, abdicated his amateur status when the Cypress lay-out was built.

Silvestri, whose hair is tinged with silver, gives lessons at the course and manages the completely equipped pro-shop.

The three-time San Francisco city golf champ was the winner, along with pro Bud Ward, of the 1961 Bing Crosby Invitational at Pebble Beach. He has also held the California state title and is considered one of the top teachers in the game.

Besides the large nine-hole lay-out, there is an expansive putting green in the front and a practice and driving range in the rear.

Inside the pro-shop, Silvestri offers the finest line of golfing equipment, ranging from alpaca sweaters to complete sets of clubs, all top pro models.

Another popular feature at Cypress Hills is the Bunker Room Restaurant. Long after the sun has gone behind the mountains in the West, people may enjoy some of the top dining in the Bay area. Pedemonte and his partners have acquired the services of Chef Otello Matteucci, a top Italian cuisine artist.

Adjoining the Bunker Room is the Tee Room lounge, where the weary golfer may regain some of his lost vitality following a round over the challenging Cypress fairways.

Pedemonte and his associates have built a golfer's paradise for the North Peninsula residents with reasonable green fees to allow everyone to enjoy golf. The course also caters to private tournaments and has an active women's golf club.

CYPRESS HILLS pro Bob Silvestri checks out a putter in well-stocked pro shop at Colma course.

THE VIEW from the Tee Room at the Cypress Hills Golf Course overlooks the spacious putting green and the rolling, trap-studded fairways.

INSIDE THE plush Bunker Room, some of the finest cuisine in the Bay Area is served long after the sun recedes behind the Pacific Ocean.

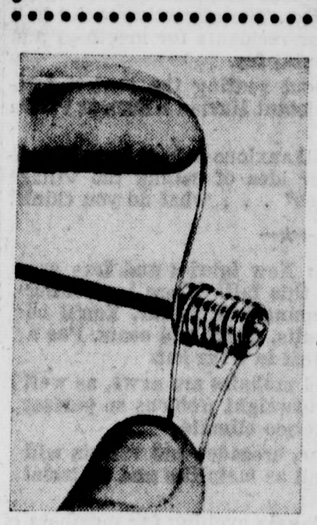
WHAT'S DOING



It may not look like much, but this newly-developed little gadget—called a Coil Spring Connector—is going to save a lot of time in putting telephone service in new buildings. It's a way telephone people have found to connect and splice plastic-covered wire without stripping off the insulation. They just loop the wire around the coil and pull. The wire snaps in, the coil cuts through the insulation, and contact is made.

Makes a better contact, too, than the old hand-stripping way, and saves a lot of time. It's a saving that helps keep the cost of your telephone service down at the same time we improve its quality and usefulness.

* * * * *

Most places you go, chances are you won't be very far from a public telephone. For your convenience, telephone people try to locate them where you're most apt to want and need them.

In many places you'll find drive-up booths that let you telephone without getting out of your car. You may also see some of the new walk-up booths in outdoor locations where a phone would be handy but there's not enough space for a conventional booth.

All these public telephones are another way we try to make your phone service most convenient for you, wherever you may be.

* * * * *

A new telephone handset for people with impaired hearing looks like this. A tiny control in the center, right under their fingers, lets them adjust the loudness of incoming voices to the best listening level.

This new volume-control handset comes in color and fits any modern phone—desk set, Princess, wall phone, even the Call Director business telephone.

If you'd like to learn more about this latest telephone help for the hard-of-hearing, just call our business office.

From A Feminine Viewpoint...

By Mona Baker

Every time we've picked up the paper lately, we've found news items about a local group who always seem to be going some place or doing something. Such a lively group, we decided, should certainly prove to be an interesting subject for a story. So we were delighted to accept the kind invitation of Mr. Willard Wagner to drop by the auditorium of the Baptist Church and have lunch with the Westlake Senior Citizens Group.

Busy with their sewing activities, community singing, birthday celebrations—we found the members having a wonderful time. Each month they have a birthday celebration for those members who have had a birthday during the past month. We just happened to have selected the right day to visit because right in front of us was a beautifully decorated birthday cake, and everyone joined together in singing "Happy Birthday."

The group meets every Wednesday from 10:30 in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Meetings are very well attended. Member May Misenhimer, who is 95 years young, hasn't missed a meeting for the past year.

New officers have just been elected by the group and include Beatrice Batz, president; Lyn Humphries, vice-president; Eunice McDermott, secretary, and Willard Wanger, treasurer.

The next event on their busy social calendar is a picnic at Junipero Serra Park on August 22.

The group welcomes new members, and anyone over 50 years of age is invited to join. The organization is non-denominational and open to both women and men.

Do plan to drop by soon—you'll have a delightful afternoon.

An outstanding record of community service has the "Community Leader" that we are saluting this week.

A resident of the area since 1956, she was charter president of both Daniel Webster and Vista Grande PTA. She also served as director of education in the 17th District PTA.

Her interest in the parent-teacher organization began back in Hopkinsville, Ky., where her now-married daughter, Shirley, attended school.

Other local organizations in which she has taken part include Friends of the Daly City Library, where she served as recording secretary for two years. She has also participated in every community drive.

Presently she is president of the Daly City-Colma Lioness Club for the coming year and has a busy season of activities lined up for the group.

We salute Mary Wilson as our community leader of the week!

The Wilsons, husband, Del, and youngsters, Kristie and Mark, live at 206 Alta Loma in St. Francis Heights.

Freshly painted and redecorated with colorful new drapes is the Broadmoor Community Center, located in Broadmoor Village. The attractive social hall is available to Broadmoor residents for meetings and parties for a nominal rental fee.

For information about renting the center, telephone administrative assistant Marian Hilton at PLaza 5-2465.

By the way, we're still anxious to hear from Broadmoor residents about our idea of calling the Village "Broadmoor Village Pines" . . . what do you think?

FASHION NEWS: New fabrics and furs are making fashion news this fall. There is nothing that adds such an elegant look as fur. You'll be seeing it on dresses, suits, stoles and coats. For a dramatic touch, do invest in a fur hat.

In fabrics, brushed mohairs are news, as well as a wide range of lightweight woolens so perfect for our cool San Francisco climate.

For after-five wear, brocades and velvets will be high fashion, as well as metallics and material with beading trim.

SOCIAL WHIRL: A gala evening for members of the Lioness Club who attended a dinner-theatre party last Thursday evening at the Sheraton-Palace.

Picnics, too, have been on the social schedules of localites. Sunday before last, Penney associates and families enjoyed a day of swimming and eating (quite a feast prepared by Westlake Bowl) at Blackberry Farm in Cupertino.

A family picnic, too, for members of the Pacifica Art Guild scheduled for August 19 at "The Barn."

Important coming event on the calendar of Epiphany Guild is the 12th annual fashion show-luncheon schdeuled for October 20.

NEWS BRIEFS: Busy getting settled in a lovely new contemporary style home in Westborough is the John Putkey family, who now live at 3601 Shannon drive. Josephine and John just returned from attending the Elks National Convention in Chicago.

It is a new home, too, for long-time residents, the Del Guymans, who move in a couple of weeks to 6 Pueblo Court, Orinda. Maurine taught at Garden Village, Christopher Columbus and Woodrow Wilson.

Just back from a two-week vacation spent at the World Fair in Seattle and at Diamond Lake, near Spokane, is the Don Davis family.

A vacation of short trips around the Bay Area was spent by Margaret and Dick Wieser and baby daughter, Charlene.

It was a three-week vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sainsbury, Sr., who visited Scottsdale, Arizona, and the Grand Canyon.

Tahoe is the locale for a vacation of the Dr. Irving (Fern) Warner family, with two children, Carol and Jimmy.

Quite ingenious are Lorraine Picchi and Jackie De Salvore. They are busy making colorful maps to be given with tickets for the Holy Angels House Tour (September 13) so guests will have no difficulty locating the homes on the tour.

No Cut Off Date For GI Home Loans

Although one deadline has passed for GI home loans, the Cal-Vet program has no deadlines and cut-off dates, according to San Mateo County veterans' service officer Floyd D. Granger.

"This fact," says Granger, "enables those California veterans who have not yet availed themselves of a Cal-Vet loan and who find that their entitlement for a GI home loan has been lost or soon may be lost, to maintain their long term planning for a home loan through the Cal-Vet program."

Some veterans have already lost entitlement under the federal program, and others will lose entitlement from day to day until the final cut-off for the entire program on July 25, 1967.

In order for such a veteran to be eligible for a Cal-Vet loan under the farm and home purchase program, according to Granger, he must have been either native to California or a "bona fide resident" at the time of induction into the service and released from service after at least 9 days under honorable conditions.

Granger urges such veterans to obtain further details on the program by calling at the San Mateo County veterans' service office at the court house in Redwood City, or at the farm and home division branch office at 350 McAllister street in San Francisco.

Westlake Mother Named North County YWCA Head

Westlake Mother—3-42 Temp...

The new director for the North San Mateo County YWCA is a Westlake mother with a professional interest in teenagers.

Pat Martinez, 59 Longview drive, Daly City, will start work soon as director and coordinator of the local YWCA with offices in the Westlake Shopping Center. Mrs. Elaine Wolfe, YWCA director here for three years, resigned this summer to enter graduate social work school.

Mrs. Martinez graduated this spring from the University of California Graduate School of Social Work. Particularly interested in the problems of youth, she did field work with delinquent girls for the California Youth Authority parolee division. She says, "The youth of today reflect the problems of our times. Their real underlying questions are 'Who am I?' 'Where am I going?'"

Mrs. Martinez is also familiar with the problems of public welfare. She has worked with the Contra Costa County Aid to Needy Children program and in Sonoma County with Public Assistance. While at UC she also did a year's field work in the San Francisco office of the Red Cross, doing casework with servicemen's families.

How does she feel about going to work with normal, non-delinquent YWCA women? "Fine," says Pat, adding that she is very much interested in community organization work. This means working with different agencies and groups in the community to provide a coordinated family social recreational program such as the YWCA offers in the North San Mateo County area.

Married to Michael Martinez, a psychiatric social worker with the State Department of Mental Hygiene, Pat is the mother of Micaela "Mickey," 5, and Serapio "Sam," 3 years.
